SYDNEY, March 15, 2013 – Nextant Pacific Pty Ltd (“Nextant Pacific”), exclusive sales agent for the Nextant 400XTi – the world’s only remanufactured business jet – and the forthcoming G90XT turboprop, today announced the launch of its new regional website as part of the major sales and marketing push in to Asia Pacific. The company has seen a significant increase in interest in both aircraft following the Singapore Air Show and regional demonstration tour featuring the quick-change VIP/Air Ambulance version of 400XTi.

The website (www.nextantpacific.com) is part of Nextant Aerospace’s regionalized sales and marketing strategy that is delivering results beyond expectations. Two years into production, the 400XTi fleet has surpassed 10,000 flight hours as operators on five continents prove the reliability, passenger-appeal and superior performance of their new purchases. On the website, customers can explore the costs and capabilities of both Nextant aircraft, see stunning visuals and learn more about financing options. The website is optimized for seamless access across a range of devices and is well integrated with social media networks.

“Nextant remanufacturing is a revolutionary approach to business aviation,” said Nextant Pacific Managing Director John Oppenheim. “I truly believe these are the best light aircraft in the world and our new website will allow us to spread the word across the Asia Pacific region. Come and see why the 400XTi is an undisputed commercial success with over 20% of the global Beechjet fleet already committed to remanufacturing and the new G90XT turboprop that is bound to see even better success. The region is well suited for a light jet with a 3,710km range and a turboprop with ‘go-anywhere’ capabilities. With Nextant, we can deliver those capabilities and more at half the cost of the competition.”
